Importance of Farming and Kitchen Gardening and Field visit by Dr. Jyoti, Asst. Prof. University of Horticulture

The day started off at 6:00 am with a yoga session, exercises and sports for about 2 hours. Today was a very special day for all of us cause we learnt a new thing known as kitchen gardening hosted by a great Dr. Jyoti, Asst. prof. University of Horticulture. She gave a brief explanation on kitchen gardening is and its importance.

Her speech motivated each and every one of us to start setting up a kitchen garden at our homes.

Takeaway :

Growing your own vegetables is both fun and rewarding. All you really need to get started is some decent soil and a few plants. But to be a really successful vegetable gardener — and to do it organically — you'll need to understand what it takes to keep your plants healthy and vigorous. Here are the basics.

"Feed the soil" is like a mantra for organic gardeners, and with good reason. In conventional chemical agriculture, crop plants are indeed "fed" directly using synthetic fertilizers.

When taken to extremes, this kind of chemical force-feeding can gradually impoverish the soil. And turn it from a rich entity teeming with micro-organisms insects and other life forms, into an inert growing medium that exists mainly to anchor the plants' roots, and that provides little or no nutrition in its own right.

He said the average risk of a woman developing breast cancer sometime in her life is about 12%, or a 1 in 8 chance. The main risk factors for breast cancer include being a woman and getting older and the most breast cancers are found in women ages 55 and older. Uncontrollable factors that may increase risk include personal/family history, race, breast density and menstrual period history.

Some Signs and Symptoms of Breast Cancer

Every woman should know how her breasts normally look and feel, so she can recognize any changes that may occur. While knowing what to look for is important, a woman should still get her regular mammograms and clinical breast exams, as these tests can help detect breast cancer before she even has symptoms," said Dr. Raghu Ram.

Signs of breast cancer may include:

Lump in the breast or underarm (armpit)

Swelling or thickening of all or part of the breast

Dimpling or skin irritation of breast skin

Localized, persistent breast pain

Redness, scalliness or thickening of the nipple or breast skin

Nipple discharge (other than breast milk)

Any change in the size or shape of the breast

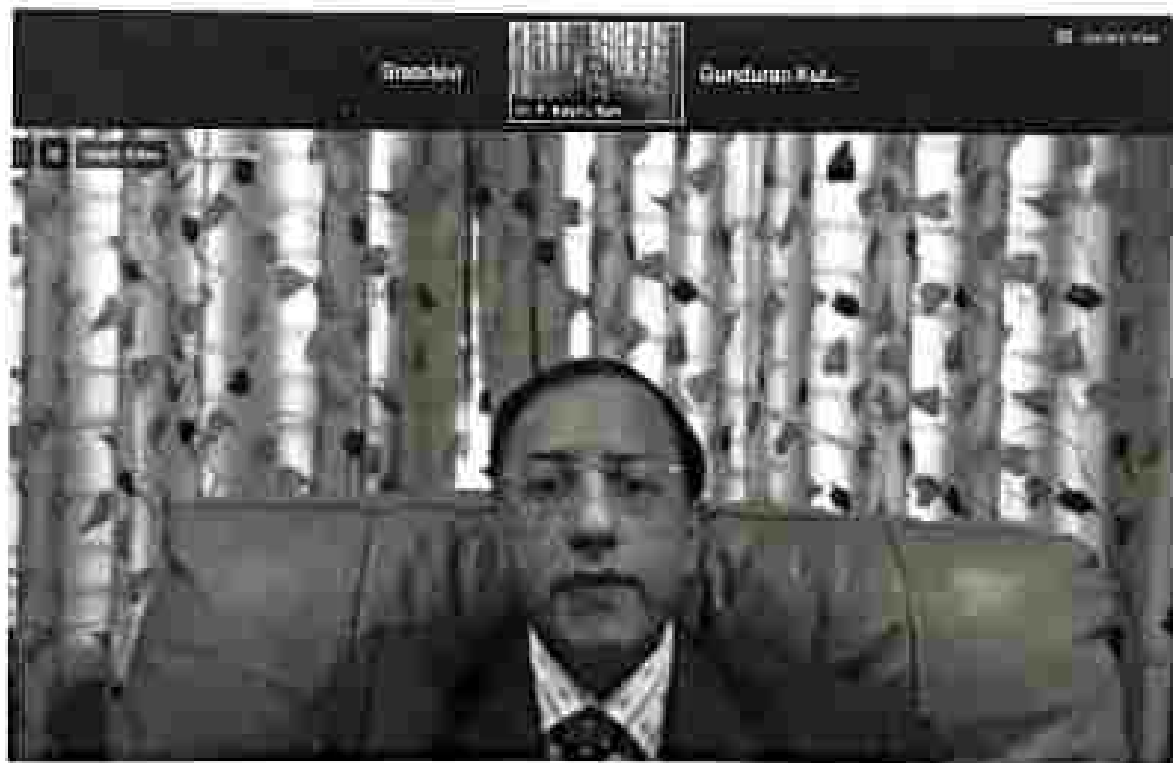

To lower risk of breast cancer:

Get to and stay at a healthy weight. Balance your food intake with physical activity to avoid excess weight gain.

Be physically active. Every week, get at least 150 minutes of moderate intensity or 75 minutes of vigorous intensity activity (or a combination of these).

Limit or avoid alcohol.

Summary

The VIT Women Empowerment Cell and VIT NSS have met the Sarpanch and the Village Officer of Azimnagar on 12th April 2021 to discuss the problems faced by women in Azimnagar village and how VIT can extend their support for the cause. The discussions were based on the survey conducted on 9th April 2021 in Azimnagar village. The aspects discussed were that the women were found suffering from social biases in the traditional male dominated society. Compared to men women have limited access to educational and employment opportunities, even they have the least authority to do something at their own initiation. Women are found greatly confined to household and soft nature of farmyard activities.

The connection between poverty and women's lack of power over resources and decision-making has caught the attention of the survey. It was discussed that still largely the households directly and indirectly deny or discourage women's income generation. Though the women have substantial contributions both as labor and mentor in the household, their role is often underestimated.

VIT NSS & VIT WEC identified Women empowerment issues and felt they should be addressed. VIT WEC offered to implement various types of Women Empowerment Programs and support Programs to the women in Azimnagar Village. Women empowerment through Income Generation and Skill Development, to increase income of women through independent business or work in the related field. The team expressed to the sarpanch that increased income lessens women's dependence on family heads and enables them to spend for personal expenses; giving them certain freedoms as individuals; empowering them to contribute to family affairs financially and creating an environment in the family and in the society, in favor of the women.

Objective of the Program: The objective of the program was to create an awareness on how to prevent sexual harassment at workplace. The panelists discussed openly with students and lady faculty on Sexual harassment which they felt may be is a new term to many but unwanted and unwelcome acts of a sexual nature, also known as "eve-teasing", are not a new phenomenon. It is a reality for many women in India. While most cases of sexual harassment in the workplace are perpetrated by men against women, no woman or man should have to tolerate such conduct as it violates the respect and dignity of the victim, and has negative effects on individuals, enterprises and society. Recognizing the need to suppress such conduct, many countries in Asia have taken legislative action to prohibit sexual harassment at the workplace, and this year, India has taken further substantial measures by approving the Sexual Harassment of Women at Workplace (Prevention, Prohibition and Redressal) Act, 2013.

Summary

Bhogi, Sankranti and Karama the three-day festive started with bright colours at VIT

As the sun is shifting to the north, Dakshinayana, it is time to harvest. If we want to harvest, first we have to cut down the crop. The Pongal festival is the time we are supposed to burn all the old baggage. Whatever opinions, ideas, and conclusions we may have anything that is negative & useless, Now is the time to drop them off and, flower into a beautiful being.

It is the time for everyone to Allow a fresh start, And at VIT it was definitely a very fun start with both the VIT NSS and Yukthi organizing the Rangoli Competition. The event saw the ladies enthusiastically participating in their favourite Rangoli Competition heartily while indulging in coloring their beautiful Rangoli Designs. The competition further strengthened the bond between the VITians, as they shared their colours with each other during the competition.

Objective of the Program: The objective is to bring awareness on Circular Economy. A Circular Economy based on the idea that there is no such thing as waste. To achieve this, products are designed to and optimized for a cycle of disassembly and reuse that will make it easier to handle and transform or renew them.

Summary

Dr Srinivas Kesavarapu, Vice President & Head Technical & Research, Ramky Enviro Engineers Limited, Hyderabad, India has addressed the gathering throwing light on Circular Economy. He elucidated that looking beyond the current take-make-dispose extractive industrial model, a circular economy aims to redefine growth, focusing on positive society-wide benefits. It entails gradually decoupling economic activity from the consumption of finite resources and designing waste out of the system. Underpinned by a transition to renewable energy sources, the circular model builds economic, natural, and social capital. It is based on three principles: design out waste and pollution; keep products and materials in use; regenerate natural systems.
